The decision was made Wednesday morning at a conference on board the United States cruiser Richmond near Rear Admiral Thomas P. Magruder, Lieutenant Lowell H. Smith, commander of the round-the-world fliers, and Lieutenant Locatelli.

COUZENS REFUSES LAFOLLETTE AID WITH HIS THANKS

Michigan Senator Declares In- tention to Seek Re-election As Republican

By Associated Press
Detroit, Mich.—Senator James Couzens, who during the last session of congress was frequently aligned with the LaFollette group and whose Republicanism has been questioned by political opponents, announced Wednesday in two speeches that he will support the Republican ticket in November irrespective of the outcome of the September primaries at which he is a candidate for renomination.

Sensor Couzens, who addressed the Wayne County Women's Republican club and later an air rally at the Royal Oak, said he was "grateful" for the recent endorsement of his candidacy by Senator LaFollette, but that he was seeking office as a Republican, a supporter of party policies. He added, however, that he expected to have a part in the framing of these party policies and would not accept meekly as the party creed anything handed him by others.

Michigan, he said, is "Republican in thought" and his enemies were charged with attempting to "create sentiment against him by challenging the degree of his party allegiance."

Senator Couzens said he "probably was in error" a year ago when he said the present prohibition laws were unenforceable and that he was in favor of "old fashioned" beer.

"But I shall say what I mean, regardless of the political error of the remarks," he added. "Nothing I can do can change the prohibition laws."

Wheeler of Montana were placed in nomination in Nebraska for the presidency and vice presidency, and electors pledged to support them in the electoral college, should they carry Nebraska in November, were named by the mass convention which met here Tuesday. ## Former Beau Brummel of Prize Ring Now Sits in Cell, Old, Broke, Dejected

19 WITNESSES TESTIFY

Ex-fighter Held on Charges of Robbery, Murder and Assault

By Associated Press
Los Angeles—Kid McCoy, the boxing Beau Brummel, who 20 years ago strode into a Los Angeles hotel boasting 80 suits of clothing besides the fighting trunks in which he was to make his first appearance here, Wednesday slouched on a cot in the county jail, a 51-year-old, former pugilist, broke, dejected, awaiting trial on indictments charging him with murder, robbery and assault with intent to murder.

Nineteen witnesses told the grand jury Tuesday how the body of Mrs. Theresa Mors, dead of a bullet wound in her head, was found early Wednesday in the apartment she and McCoy had occupied, how a few hours later the kid burst into the Mors antique shop in the fashionable Westlake shopping district, held up four men and slightly wounded two men and a woman.

There were 11 others waiting to testify but a comparatively brief session satisfied the jurors that there was enough evidence on which to base the indictments charging McCoy with the murder of Mrs. Mors, with four counts of robbery, and with three counts of assault, specifying intent to murder Sam and Ann Schapp, friends of Mr. Mors, and William G. Ross, a customer who tried to escape from the Mors shop while McCoy was in it.

POINT TO EX-HUSBAND
McCoy left the apartment where he and Mrs. Mors were living together before the shot was fired that stretched the woman dead with a bullet in her brain, according to a statement Wednesday by Dagmar Dahlgren, dancer and eighth wife of the "Kid."

The dancer told the police she had been spying on McCoy and Mrs. Mors, and saw McCoy leave the apartment and Mrs. Mors turn out the lights, then noticed the arrival of a "heavy set" man, heard an argument and then a shot.

Mrs. Iva Martin, apartment house neighbor of Mrs. Mors, also said that she saw a heavy set man leave the Mors apartment a few minutes after a shot was fired there and identified this man as Albert A. Mors, divorced husband of the dead woman, heir to her estate and beneficiary of her life insurance.

BLAINE BETRAYED BOB, COMINGS SAYS

Governor's Support of Damman is Repudiation of LaFol- lette, Claim

By Associated Press
Madison—Governor Blaine's endorsement of Theodore Damman for secretary of state is a virtual repudiation of Senator LaFollette, declares a statement issued at headquarters for Lieutenant Governor George F. Comings, candidate for governor here Wednesday.

Senator LaFollette's attempt to bring about harmony among Progressives in Wisconsin has failed with the endorsement given Damman by "Mr. Blaine," the statement says.

"The senator's appeal to leaders in the state to lay aside personal prejudices has failed to take effect with the executive, Mr. Blaine's action is destined to bring about his defeat, since he has openly declared he will not be governed by Senator LaFollette's wishes in political matters."

The endorsement given Damman by the governor is considered an important development in the political situation by Progressive leaders here. It is understood Attorney General Herman L. Ekern will Wednesday confer with Senator LaFollette in Washington and present the matter to him.

15,000 People At Seymour Fair Today

(Special to Post-Crescent)

Seymour—Fifteen thousand people are attending the second day of the Seymour fair here on Wednesday. This is Appleton day and a large number of Appleton people are in attendance. The crowd is one of the largest in the history of the fair association.

Seymour fair officials early Wednesday morning had decided to extend the fair one day, closing on Friday instead of Thursday, but shortly before noon the officials said the huge crowd today made another day unnecessary so the fair will close on Thursday night as scheduled. Races postponed from Tuesday because of the wet track probably will be sandwiched in Wednesday and Thursday.

The track is in fair condition now and a crew of men worked all morning to make it as fast as possible.

SEYMOUR TEAM WINS
A crowd of the usual size for the day attended the fair on Tuesday. The rain during the night did not interfere with the program during the day, except for the horse races. Two races were run off and the others were postponed.

The Seymour baseball team defeated an Appleton squad, 6 to 5, in one of the feature attractions of the afternoon. A high class program is offered fair visitors.

Today is Appleton day and a large number of Appleton people are in the grounds. Judging of exhibits began Tuesday morning and the work probably will be completed before the end of today. The class of exhibits is fully up to the high standard set by the Seymour fair and in some departments the number of exhibits breaks all previous records.

Eight horses were entered in the half mile running race which was won by "Dewey" in 1 minute and 4 seconds. Second place was won by "Tog."

"King Direct" topped first money in the 219 pace for a purse of $300 and added money. The winner, owned by A. J. Mitchell, Plymouth, was forced to extend himself and five heats were required in the race. Ramsey Thornway, owned by J. Anderson, Shawano, finished in second place. Eight horses were entered.

FLOODS WASH OUT ROADS WHEN STORM SWEEPS ILLINOIS

Serious Inundations Feared Near Peoria When Water Continues to Rise

By Associated Press
Galesburg, Ill.—A heavy rain starting early Tuesday and lasting all night caused a washout on the main line of the Burlington road at a point three miles east of Altoona, early Wednesday. Both tracks are reported to be washed out for a considerable distance. All main line traffic is tied up, passenger trains bound for Chicago are held at Altoona west bound trains at Galva.

Another washout is reported at Denrock on the Rock Island division preventing the detouring of trains over that line.

Mahomet, Ill.—Two men, the engineer and a mail clerk on Big Four passenger train No. 43, westbound, were injured early Wednesday morning. The train, an engine and three coaches, left the rails and rolled into the ditch alongside, the result of a 500-foot washout two miles east of here. None of the passengers were injured beyond minor cuts and bruises.

Peoria, Ill.—One thousand feet of the Peoria-Chicago hard road was washed out during a near cloudburst one mile north of Chillicothe Tuesday night. The entire bottom north of here were one vast lake Wednesday morning and the Illinois river, already at flood stage from rains of ten days ago, is rising rapidly. A serious flood is feared.

Insane Man Forces Autoist To Drive Him From Asylum

Stopped by a lunatic and forced at the point of a revolver to drive him around in an automobile for three and a half hours is the story told to the police by Phil Leonhardt, 719 Main-st.

The man whom Leonhardt drove around Tuesday night was William Wjcheff, an inmate of the Outagamie county asylum, who escaped about 8 o'clock Tuesday night, and was found and returned to the institution Wednesday by R. J. McCarthy, chief of police at Kaukauna.

According to Leonhardt's account of the experience, he was driving near the asylum at about 10 o'clock when the inmate stepped out of the shadows and flashing a revolver ordered him to drive him to Darboy, a command which the driver promptly obeyed, for the "didn't want to take any chances."

All the way to Darboy the driver humored his passenger as much as

BABE, DICKIE CALMAS STATE DEMANDS DEATH

Franks Slayers Committed Two Crimes Demanding Gallows, Attorney Says

By Associated Press

Chicago—Two of three high crimes for which Illinois provides the death penalty—murder, rape and kidnapping—were committed by Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb in a manner justifying nothing less than death on the gallows, Thomas Marshall, assistant state's attorney, told Judge John R. Caverly Wednesday.

He urged the extreme penalty in an argument based upon the phraseology of the Illinois laws and the formal charges connected with the kidnapping and murder of Robert Franks to which the defendants have pleaded guilty.

Judge Caverly opened a book of law and followed the text as Mr. Marshall read the cold, hard phrases defining murder and kidnapping as capital crimes in this state. The phrase "shall suffer the penalty of death" was always brought out in a voice raised in tone and emphasis in its liberations.

The defendants gave no visible signs that the phrase "death penalty" had been heard by them. They seemed more interested in the notes being made by Clarence S. Darrow and his associate counsel for the defense.

The attorney ridiculed the defense attempt to show mitigation of punishment by the testimony of mental experts.

"No philosophy is an excuse for crime," was Mr. Marshall's text on that point, and he worked it out by drawing parallels between Leopold's and Loeb's belief in their own powers and the philosophies of anarchists, Communists and Mormons who were convicted of violating laws of the land despite reliance upon their beliefs as justification for their acts.

CONTINUE STORM AGAINST M'DONALD

Official Circles Excuse Ruhr Evacuation Letter on Grounds of Delay

By Associated Press
Paris—The storm raised by the British prime minister's letter to France and Belgium urging expedition of the evacuation of the Ruhr, continues to rage.

Official circles, however, maintain that Mr. MacDonald acted quite naturally in the matter, using the only procedure available to him to make known officially, apart from the London conference, the traditional viewpoint of his government.

It is further pointed out in these circles that the letter, dated last Saturday, was written prior to Premier MacDonald's speech at the close of the conference in which he expressed gratification at the happy solution of the Ruhr evacuation question; consequently, they contend the publication of a letter delayed by purely fortuitous circumstances, can in no way modify France's attitude nor diminish the satisfactory results obtained in London.

GIRLS CHARGE THEY WERE ASSAULTED IN AUTOMOBILE

By Associated Press
Fond du Lac—Charging that they were assaulted by two men in an automobile on the Sheboygan road early Monday, Evelyn and Eleanor Wentzloff and Grace McCormick, all of Oshkosh, have sworn out warrants against George H. Hild and Claude Haedrich. Hild has been released on $2,000 bail.

Nedrick Koer said to have disappeared. Hild Koer is being held at the county jail for observation on charges preferred by several girls, ranging in age from 8 to 14.

possible, he said, while the revolver remained in sight. The passenger did not appear to be familiar with the roads near Darboy, for after they had driven south east of that village they seemed to drive over the same territory three or four times, Leonhardt said. Finally the inmate gave the command to be discharged on a dark highway which seemed to be used but little. This was about 1.30 in the morning.

During the ride Wjcheff had very little to say outside of talking about the direction and telling about his desire for freedom. He was found late in the morning at Kaukauna, which happens to be his home. When he was returned to the asylum he denied the possession of a revolver, and he had none when he was found. Leonhardt formerly was employed at the asylum and said he knew the escaped inmate by sight, although the man was not in the institution at the time he was employed there.

4 Prisoners Saw Bars To Escape From Chilton Jail

Three youths who were arrested here July 11 for attempted assault on Miss Selma Abraham and Miss Leone Riedl of New London, escaped Tuesday night from the county jail at Chilton in company with a fourth man who was held for burglary, according to word received by Appleton police.

They sawed away the bars on a window of the jail. It is believed they either boarded a freight train or were taken away by accomplices. They had not been found up to noon.

Carl Chivington and Clarence Kern of Appleton and Anton Kerscher, who were held on charges of enticing for immoral purposes are the local men who escaped and the fourth was Daniel Haese of Brillion, who was arrested several weeks ago on the charge of robbing a saloon at Harrison. The trio was held without bail for trial in the circuit court in October and Haese was to be released on bail Thursday.

HAD RUN OF JAIL
Escape of the prisoners was discovered when the sheriff's wife took them their breakfast early Wednesday morning. Their cell door had been left open so they had access to a toilet on the second floor. A barred window upstairs was the one they chose for their escape and they saved a hole in the eleven inches through which they crawled. The jail delivery was accomplished between 11 o'clock Tuesday night and 6 o'clock Wednesday morning.

A description was sent to all surrounding towns and a posse has been scouring the woods and lowlands nearby. The Calumet-co sheriff believes that the four men boarded a southbound freight which passed through there early Wednesday morning or were helped in their flight by an automobile.

Just how the saws were obtained has not been determined. The father of Haese and two of his companions, Edwin Franks and Edward Heinsen visited the jail Tuesday evening. There have been other visitors and it is believed some were accomplices who gave them the saws.

Kerscher, Chivington and Kern were arrested by Appleton police about midnight on July 11 after they had induced the two young women to ride home from Waverly beach in their automobile. They took them to a lonely spot and one of them played "Kun him" while the attempt was made to lure them into the woods. They escaped with the assistance of a passing autolist and managed to get word to Appleton police. Kerscher also was to be charged with assault and battery on the rescuing autolist, according to a warrant which has been issued, and it is understood warrants also had been made out for all three on the charge of assault with intent to rape. The offense was committed in Calumet-co and the trio therefore was taken to Chilton.

Cheering Crowd Hears Dawes Attack Radicals

Republican Vice Presidential Nominee Prepares for De- parture to Augusta Where First Talk Is Scheduled.

By Associated Press
Evanston, Ill.—Having formally accepted the Republican nomination for vice president Charles G. Dawes entered actively into the party's national campaign Wednesday with his departure for Maine to deliver an address Saturday at Augusta.

The Augusta address is the only one listed for Mr. Dawes on the trip undertaken Wednesday and he will return to his home here early next week and then proceed to Lincoln, Neb., for another speech on Aug. 29. His first, stumping tour will begin soon afterward.

Formal notification of his selection as President Coolidge's running mate was given Mr. Dawes Tuesday night at ceremonies held on the lawn of his home here with an audience declared by Republican leaders to have been one of the largest ever gathered at any political meeting in the vicinity of Chicago.

The big audience, extending in an almost solid mass from the Dawes home to Lake Michigan, 300 yards away, was composed of the leaders of the Republican party, of delegations from a number of middlewestern cities and towns, and of the neighbors of the nominee.

Speaking to this audience and indirectly to the country's voters, Mr. Dawes assailed the LaFollette independent candidacy as "a mobilization of extreme radicalism," declared the real contest of the campaign to be between the "progressive conservatism" of the Republican party and the "unbridled and dangerous radicalism" of the LaFollette movement, and defended the course of the Harding and Coolidge administration in foreign affairs.

GIVES COOLIDGE CREDIT

Although giving the credit to President Coolidge and Secretary Hughes, Mr. Dawes predicted that acceptance of the reparations plan worked out under his direction meant peace and prosperity for Europe and saving of the United States from inevitable agricultural and industrial depression.

The nominee, after defining the position of the Republican party as one of progressive conservatism and that of the LaFollette independent candidacy as one of extreme radicalism, declared the Democratic party stood in between and "instead of recruiting itself from the two battle lines, will suffer only the fate which befalls those who try to straddle in a real fight."

Mr. Dawes spoke in response to the formal notification address delivered by A. W. Jefferies, former representative from Nebraska and chairman of the official notification committee, who likewise attacked "the man from Wisconsin," who he said had thrown off all pretense of Republicanism and has run away from the home where for 40 years he has been fed and sheltered, and has finally eloped with the Socialist party.

BRYAN SPEECH QUIETS FEARS OF MANAGERS

G. O. P. Created Impression of Disagreement Between Democrat Leaders

SEEKS RADICAL VOTES

Nebraska Executive and His Brother Are Favorites with Progressives

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1921 by the Post Pub. Co.
Washington, D. C.—Although there has been no anxiety as to the character of Governor Bryan's speech of acceptance, manifest, unquestionably the managers of the Democratic party breathe easier as they read the address of Nebraska's governor.

Until now, the impression has been cultivated by many Republicans that the presidential and vice-presidential nominees could be counted upon to be at opposites on public questions and that the voter would not be considering candidates standing on the party platform but two men who would interpret it in different ways.

The speech by Governor Bryan puts an end, so far as the Democrats are concerned, to any such fears, for Mr. Bryan not only has kept within the limits of the platform—he really had little difficulty, for his own brother drafted most of the platform in New York—but he comes out for John W. Davis as a Progressive and makes a bid to the radicals in both parties to follow the Democratic ticket.

NOMINEES UNITED

The nominees for president and vice president stand together. This will not end efforts to drive a wedge between them. The Bryan speech is not ultra-radical. Every word of it can be subscribed to by John W. Davis, for it anything, it amplifies the principles he has already enunciated. During the coming campaign, Mr. Davis will be found more and more in line with the Bryan interpretation of the platform than with the conservatism of which he was presumed to be a disciple before he was nominated.

Published interview in which he admitted he was frankly mistaken about his estimate of John W. Davis, and that his views were based on circumstantial evidence rather than study will not prevent the Republican critics from assuming that the commoner's enthusiasm is based upon his fondness for his own brother, but it will enable the former secretary of state to stamp the west wholeheartedly and give new evidence of the Progressivism of John W. Davis.

The Bryan brothers have a hold on the west. Governor Bryan has a reputation for sincerity and honesty. He was endorsed by the Farmer-Labor party of Nebraska—LaFollette's own followers—when he ran for governor last time and was elected by an overwhelming majority. His speech of acceptance, therefore, will

CAUTIOUS CAL IS MORE THAN SILENT ON HIS VACATION

Promised Correspondents He Wouldn't "Make News" in Vermont Hills

BY HARRY B. HUNT
NEA Service Writer

Washington—There won't be much news emanating from Plymouth, Vt., during the 10-day vacation President Coolidge is taking back at his old home in the hills.

At least not in "Cautious Cal" has his wish and keeps his promise.

On the occasion of his last chat with newspaper men before leaving the capital for the Old Home Town, he remarked that he probably would see some of them up there and that he thought they would find it a very pleasant place to be.

"It will be," spoke up Charley Michael of the Philadelphia North American, "if you don't spoil it by making a lot of news."

Coolidge looked up with one of his rare but understanding smiles.

"All right," he said, "I'll be cautious."

How it came there is still a mystery.

Nevertheless, on the morning after the Davis notification ceremonies at Clarksville, Vt., at which Senator Walsh had said a lot of unkind things about the Republican administration and at which Candidate Davis is also said to have been present, the center of the world's space before the entrance to the executive offices was a big puddle of slimy, oozy clay; gooey, sticky and very, very messy.

Visitors to the White House circumnavigated it warily. But they, apparently, saw no special significance in it—peddlars didn't think much about it.

Then, toward noon, along came Gus Karger, dean of Washington correspondents, who interprets everything in terms of politics.

Gus cast one look at the mess, and immediately reached for the political conclusion. For the affair at Clarksville was still fresh in his mind.

"Ah-ha!" quoth he, "I see somebody's been throwing mud."

Approach of Clarksville and the Davis speech, did the Democratic candidate undertake to coin a new word in his acceptance, or did he simply suffer a slip of the tongue?

Maybe he meant to say "misunderstood." Perhaps he was, trying for "mistaken."

But the word as enunciated was "misunderstanding."

Which so far as can be discovered by a search of the volumes, Noah Webster and his successors failed to include in their dictionaries.

Although Coolidge has promised to be "cautious" and make a minimum of news during his visit to Vermont, no such consideration for the newspaperman is to be expected from Davis and the Democratic camp.

This is assured by the announcement that "Jack" Nevin of Cleveland, Va., has been named "personal publicity representative" for Davis.

Nevin may be depended upon to see that a daily list of Davis news reaches every newspaper and news association.

More than 30 years of active news work, in the course of which he has traveled with every candidate for president since the first Bryan campaign of '96, has given Jack a background for political parallels and comparisons unsurpassed by any news writer in the country.

And on occasions when there isn't any news, Nevin, as "personal publicity representative," doubtless will be able to suggest something for the candidate to do of say that will be good for half a column. What else, indeed, is a "publicity representative" for?

BOY SCALPED WHEN HE FLIES THRU WINDSHIELD

Eau Claire—Had he been struck an inch lower by the glass of the windshield through which he was hurled when the car in which he was riding shot into the ditch and against a tree, Gilles Valte, 16, would have been killed, according to physicians.

His mother, who is society editor of the Eau Claire Leader, also was thrown through the windshield. She was cut about the face and, it is feared, suffered internal injuries.

Mars, Only 35 Million Miles Away, May Send Radio Message

Appleton radio enthusiasts might experiment on tuning in on Mars next Friday, for they will never see the planet so near again. The earth and its sister planet will be closer on that day than they have ever been before. The distance between them on Aug. 22 will be 35,000,000 miles.

Astronomers and scientific men are inclined to believe that sensational information of Mars will be available. Efforts to signal the planet to determine whether the planet is inhabited will be made. The accompanying astronomical chart shows the positions of the earth, sun and Mars on Aug. 22. While Mars and the earth are only 35,000,000 miles removed from each other at one end of their orbits, on the other end the distance apart is 200,000,000 miles.

Two telescopic views of Mars made from an observatory in France also are shown. The picture on the left with the more prominent features shows the planet as it appeared last October. The dark long oblong within the light area is the Solis Lacus and the smaller dark spot is L. Phoenix.

To the right is a view of Mars taken five days later. The canal than this month, a matter of only 32,000,000 miles.

straight down to the left darkest spot, war very faint.

Chicago, Ill.—In spite of the great distance, Yerkes Observatory of the University of Chicago, situated at Williams Bay, Wis., directed by Professor Edwin B. Frost, is prepared to photograph and observe the planet Mars on Thursday, Friday and Saturday when it will approach the earth within 35,000,000 miles.

The 40-inch telescope will be used. Photographs will be taken on Thursday and Friday and on Saturday the spectroscopic will be used. The distances have been estimated at 34,720,000 miles on Aug. 20; 34,689,000 miles on Aug. 21; 34,658,000 miles on Aug. 22. E. R. Sullivan, engineer of the observatory will be in charge of the photography.

Atmospheric conditions should be more favorable in October 1925, when Mars will be nearer the earth than this month, a matter of only 32,000,000 miles.

General Miles Still Ready To Fight Despite 85 Years

BY HARRY B. HUNT

Washington—To the born fighting man, years or occasions do not count. At any age, under any circumstances, he is ready for battle.

Nelson A. Miles, for instance, who at the age of 25 was a brigadier general commanding an army corps, and at 26 a major general, cited for conspicuous gallantry at Reams Station, Chancellorsville and Spotsylvania Court House, at the age of 85 still instinctively reaches for a gun when the occasion seems to demand.

General Miles retired from the army for now a score of years, lives in an apartment house midway between the War Department and the Army and Navy Club. But 26 odd years of theoretical retirement has not dimmed his fighting spirit.

Early on the morning of Aug. 6, just two days before Miles' 85th birthday, the watchmen in the apartment house heard the sound of running water in the general's apartment. Thinking a pipe had burst they tried to rouse the occupants of the apartment by ringing the bell and pounding on the door. This failing, they decided no one was at home, and proceeded in an attempt to force the door.

They hadn't proceeded far in this, however, when they got the shock of their lives.

The muzzles of a couple of business-looking guns suddenly protruded through the transom and a coldly businesslike voice informed them: "One move more out there and I'll blow your brains out."

General Miles, the man who rounded up Sitting Bull, Natchez, Crazy Horse and Geronimo, was on the other end of the guns.

He had been sleeping soundly, and the bell ringings and rappings had not awakened him. But the attempts to force the door did. No fort he had held had ever been taken by storm, and he rallied to the defense in true military style.

The real reaction of a real fighting man!

The "girl with the pull" is the bane of the government's bureau chiefs.

These young ladies, normally among the more pugnacious, usually land their jobs largely on the recommendation of senators or representatives who know them or their families "back home" and who are interested in seeing them taken care of on the government payroll.

In many cases girls so placed prove efficient and valuable. In many other, however, the social pull that has helped land them in a job is counted on to save the job for them, no matter whether they work or play.

It is among this group that the larger number of "A. W. O. L." workers are found. They go on the theory that the "boss" won't dare fire them for their delinquencies, because if he does "Senator So-and-So" will see that he gets his.

And the joke of it is that it does work. Only in the more flagrant cases does the bureau head invite the enmity of a senator or congressman by firing an employee known to be a congressional "pet."

An unusually flagrant case, still within the memory of most Washingtonians, had to do with a young lady who obtained her position by intercession of no less a personage than the then occupant of the White House himself.

After an unusually warm warning against her absences and idleness, this young woman frankly told her chief: "You don't dare fire me. If you do the president will have me reinstated."

Not to be bluffed, the bureau chief attached the official "can." But the girl made good her claim.

The next week she was "reinstated."

ON THE SCREEN

"THE SUPER-SEX" IS FIRST FRANK R. ADAMS OWN STORY PRODUCTION

"The Super-Sex" at the New Bijou today and Thursday, is the story of a typical small town youth of 20, his trials and tribulations as they concern himself, his family and his sweetheart. All people everyone has known of seen. These are woven into one of the most amusing and appealing stories written in many a day.

Miles Brewster Higgins (Robert Gordon) prides himself on his knowledge of women, "the super-sex," especially his sweetheart (Charlotte Pierce). He owns what he grandly calls his "racing car," a thing of odds and ends built on a flimsy chassis.

A big, flashy roadster swoops down at the moment Miles scrambles from under his machine, his face and neck covered with black oil in one smear. He beholds his sweetheart with an immature youth who is introduced as J. Gordon Davis of New York. The boy's emotions are better seen than described.

EXPECT 75,000 AT FAIR IN DE PERE

De Pere—In these few intervening days when a vast army of people is bending every effort to prepare for entertaining a host that will run close to 75,000 during the Northeastern Wisconsin Fair, which opens at the grounds between De Pere and Green Bay on Aug. 25, those who have been familiar with the early days and phenomenal growth are marveling at the problem it presents today in comparison to 16 years ago in its conception.

In 1909 the Brown County Fair was organized and in that year the fair association paid $596.75 in premium in comparison to over $7000 paid last year; the gate receipts in the first year were $2,363 while last year they totaled $13,433.00; sixteen years ago the small grandstand brought in the grand sum of $164.55 while last year the association received $4,864.88 for the privilege of occupying the large stand now there and which has become too small to accommodate the crowds.

Other counties join
Four years ago the Brown County Fair ceased its existence as a reorganization was made to enable the surrounding counties to share in the profits, fun and amusement. Marinette, Oconto, Shawano, Door, Kewaunee, Outagamie, Manitowish, Calumet counties have been added to the territory and from each of these counties come a host of the best farmers each year to exhibit their stock, poultry and products. A prize won at the Northeastern Wisconsin Fair is a prize that ranks second only to the state fair in importance. The best of everything comes here.

The remarkable growth of the fair, which is looked forward to by the entire northeastern part of the state is due to the effort and time expended by the directors and members of the association. James T. Moran was the first president. He was followed by Elmer Hall and then E. T. Brown assumed office and has held the position ever since.

Milwaukee—One hundred thousand school pupils, representing fifty-five counties in Wisconsin, are expected to figure in the educational exhibits at the state fair beginning Aug. 25, fair officials announce. The exposition is being arranged by Miss Clara Habernicht of Madison, under direction of John Callahan, state superintendent of schools. It will occupy 40,000 square feet in the building formerly used for the automobile show, and fair managers say it will be the largest exhibit of its kind in any state fair in the country.

Besides the exhibitions of educational institutions in large buildings, there will also be exhibits by the state departments of agriculture, civil service, bank control, taxation insurance and industrial promotion, as well as by the state anti-tuberculosis association.

The main idea of all the exhibits according to Miss Habernicht, is to put before the public the Wisconsin educational program. One of the features will be an extensive exhibit by the state department of education, portraying the educational program outlined by State Superintendent Callahan.

Counties represented in the competitive department are Dodge, Door, West Dane, Fond du Lac, Grant, Green, Marquette, Milwaukee, Outagamie, Richland, Racine, Sauk, Waushara, Douglas, Trempealeau, Jefferson, Wood, Jackson, Langlade, Kenosha, Rusk, Waushara, Pepin, Bayfield, Taylor.

Mrs. Otto Steger and children returned Saturday from Milwaukee after visiting for three weeks at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carson Rogers.

Neuritis Means Nerve Torture

The agonizing pain caused by neuritis has driven thousands of sufferers to the use of narcotics or other habit forming drugs. Probably no ailment that afflicts mankind is capable of producing more excruciating torture than an advanced case of nerve inflammation.

Eopa Neuritis Tablets go direct to the cause of the trouble and help to remove it quickly, safely and effectively. They contain no "dope"—no habit-forming drugs. Their action is highly beneficial to the entire system, and the weak, inflamed nerves usually respond to their healing influence with amazing rapidity.

Maybe You've Heard This Tale:

"I have something here which only a select few will be allowed to invest in."

Miles Brewster fell for it.

He had a hundred hard-earned dollars and a deep-seated grudge against the world in general and his girl and his dad in particular. And he pictured the wealth that would gush up for him and enable him to take up his dad's notes at the bank and fire him from the business, and to regain his sweetheart that he might jilt her. He bought "Baby Blue." The consequences of his rashness is the laugh of the season. And the surprise.

RELOCATE TRUNK 32 ON NEW ROAD TO BE CUT THROUGH WOODS

Manitowoc Concern Gets Contract for Building New Highway

Relocation of Highway 32 between Mountain and Lakewood, a project involving the construction of 10 miles of new road will be carried forward by the Muth-Knechtel company of Manitowoc. The Manitowoc concern was awarded the contract on a bid of $70,092.99.

At present the highway between Mountain and Lakewood is known as the "Corkscrew" road. It has numerous sharp curves, steep grades, and is largely of heavy clay although part has recently been surfaced with gravel.

Rather than eliminate all the curves and hills on the present road, the division engineers believe it to be more practical and economical to hew an entirely new road straight through the woods between the two towns. Engineers who made the survey report that the new road will be one of the most beautiful scenic highways in the state. It will pass by almost a dozen lakes, cross several large streams, and skirt the foot of several high rocky hills.

Construction is to begin immediately and the state will have charge of clearing the way, building culverts, grading and putting the dirt bed in good shape generally. The county will then build a gravel surface on the highway it is reported. The road will be completed in September, 1925.

LITTLE CHANCE FOR BREAK IN COFFEE PRICE

Contrary to some news dispatches of recent date, the price of coffee is not coming, but is advancing, according to an announcement by the Appleton Tea & Coffee company.

The price has advanced about 4 cents a pound due to the Brazilian revolution. This makes a total advance of 9 cents a pound since a year ago although the retail advance has been only 5 cents, it was said.

"With Brazil absolutely controlling the coffee situation by restricting the shipments to the consuming countries, and the 1924 crop very heavily damaged by rain, the chances for any lower prices for coffee are not very encouraging," it was said. "The revolution is about done for now and coffee shipments are being resumed, but the price is still up."

REALTORS STUDY FARM SITUATION AT CONVENTION

Real Estate Dealers of Wisconsin Will Meet in La Crosse

The farm situation in Wisconsin and taxation will be two of the outstanding topics considered at the eighteenth annual convention. Wisconsin Association of Real Estate Brokers at LaCrosse, October 14 to 16, according to tentative plans announced by F. G. Haigh, Green Bay, executive secretary of the association.

Realtors from all parts of the state are expected to motor to LaCrosse for the session. The former custom of holding the meeting during the winter has been dropped to enable realtors and their families to take advantage of the state highway system en route to the convention by automobile. Mr. Haigh said.

The convention will be conducted on the division plan. Two and a half days will be given to general sessions two half days to farm lands division meetings, and two half days to the city dealers. The evening sessions will be devoted to social activities and on the first night there will be a reception for the visiting delegates from other states. The tentative program includes an illustrated lecture on the geology of the Mississippi River valley with emphasis on the Winnebago bottoms, and the defeated bill to drain that area.

Judge Emil Bensch, Manitowoc, will speak on "Husband and Wife as Heirs to Each Other," and Herbert W. Nelson, executive secretary of the national association, will address the convention on Oct. 15. A prominent farmer of Wisconsin will be selected to speak on "Just What is the Situation of the Wisconsin Farmer Today," and a speaker will be chosen for a discussion on "Taxation and Wisconsin Industries."

SAYS SCHOOL BOARD CAN'T LEVY TAXES

Under a ruling made last week by the state attorney general's department, the board of education in Madison has no authority to levy taxes for high school purposes. It was pointed out in the attorney general's opinion that the school district and the city of Madison are not two distinct municipalities, and that the authority of levying taxes is reserved for the city council only.

In the past the Madison board of education, like the Appleton high school board, has set the amount of money desired for school purposes and referred it to the city council to collect.

The attorney general's decision does not necessarily have any bearing on the situation in Appleton, according to A. C. Bosser, city attorney. The Madison school board is chosen by popular election.

BRYAN ACCEPTS

Governor Bryan accepted the Democratic nomination for vice-president with spirit, almost, one might say, in the spirit of 1936. He is for everything that Judge Davis is for, and then some. So far as he coincides with the head of the ticket, it is to review his declarations.

What he says with reference to the farmer and war may be of interest. Mr. Bryan is supposed to represent a special concession to the agricultural interests of the midwest by the national convention to catch the vote of the dries and the progressives. He pledges his party to the creation of a government export grain corporation and says the farmer needs Democratic administration that will not permit "the Mellon tax plan to relieve the multi-millionaires from paying their just share of the cost of government." He also asserts that the deflation policy of the Republican administration was responsible for throwing the farmers of this country into bankruptcy and for business depression and unemployment.

Mr. Bryan has been described as a pocket edition of La Follette, and in these and some of his other utterances the analogy may be discerned. His knowledge of politics would seem to be more profound than his knowledge of economics and finance. At any rate, he is speaking in the language of Northwestern progressives, and they at least will agree with him whether or not they vote for him. The choicest demagoguery in his address is the following:

War propaganda, mobilization, demonstrations of the civil and industrial resources of the country when we are at peace with the world unnecessarily inflames the minds of the youth, and a great many of them waste and mislead the people of other lands as to the peaceful and friendly intention of the United States government and should be discouraged by all friends for world peace.

This is the nearest approach the governor makes to a repetition of his indictment of Defense Day, and it is typical of exaggerated pacifism.

The Davis-Bryan team is considerable of an anomaly. It is less consistent, and therefore likely to be a less effective combination, than the Republicans put out. William Jennings Bryan testified to this fact when he denounced Judge Davis in the Democratic convention, and then turned to its support as his brother was put on the tail of the ticket. It is hard to consolidate super-progressivism of the Midwest with eastern conservatism. The Republicans are at least frank in not attempting to do so. That is one reason why we have the La Follette independent ticket. The Democrats are trying to ride both horses at once. Thus far it is rather hard to get one's bearings.

ONE OR TWO OTHERS, GOVERNOR

Governor Blaine in an address at Stanley, Wisconsin, is quoted as saying:

I am opposed to any organization, whether it be the Klan, the Anti-Saloon League, the Constitutional Defense League, the Security League, or any other organization that undertakes to take government into its own hands.

And how about the Non-Partisan League, Governor?

EUROPE'S DICTATORSHIPS

The downfall of Premier Primo Rivera of Spain is presaged by the abrupt return of King Alfonso and the growing opposition to the military dictatorship.

Mussolini's office is tottering. Italy's present administration is a dictatorship by force. The soviet bureaucracy, which is a power through Trotsky's army of a million Reds, has made a bungle of the government's finance, and the scene is presented in Moscow of an administration committed to communism being in such desperate straits as to consider a loan from capitalists.

Mussolini's Fascist, who really compose a civic military organization, will be unable to maintain the dictatorship much longer. The Italians are impetuous, but they always have loved liberty. Spain is an open, mountainous country, and the Spaniards are devoted to freedom. The liberal sentiment is strong in southern Europe.

The Russian military dictatorship could not last long without the soviet army. The bureaucrats tell the people that the soldiers are needed to protect Russia from invasion and conquest. But the army is the force which holds the nation in bondage.

AMERICAN LEGION AND DEFENSE DAY

The American Legion of Wisconsin at its state convention adopted a resolution to join in the observance of Defense day. It is the common sense course to take. The American Legion is itself a defense organization. It is its patriotic duty to join in this event, because the government asks it to. Not to do so would be equivalent to a declaration that the government no longer enjoys public confidence, and that its professions of peace were dishonest. The idea that observance of Defense day is militaristic or that it is dangerous to the peaceful tendencies of the nation, is too extravagant to be taken seriously. The American Legion of Wisconsin shows it is an upstanding and truly American organization.

"Page One" of a certain metropolitan daily which lies on the desk before us starts us with the captions which the editors have selected for what, in their opinion, at least, is the day's leading news. "Former Detective Held in Mail Fraud," "Four Children Bitten when they Tease Dog," "10-inch Transom admits Burglar," "Coat, Clew in Bank Theft," "Slayers of Imbrie under arrest—says Persian Government," "Boy Burned When Gasoline Explodes," "Police Intimidate Politicians Supporters is Charge," "Bank Cashier in Swindle," "Fatally Hurt When Blow-Pipe Explodes," "Boy Flying Kite With Wire Killed," "Baby Hung by Wrists from Chandelier until Nearly Dead," "Huge 'Dope' Supply Found on Suspect," "Town Terrorized Two Hours by Bandit Army," "Bank Looted of $18,000 by Six Bandits in Auto," "Hearing of Couple in Buried Body Case Opens."

We don't take the trouble to read many of these stories. After gawncing at the flaming heads we think that the boys and girls who absorb this sort of news must feel that their heritage is a world of crime and vice. "Page One" of this paper is edifying summer reading. Crime is news and recording it properly has beneficial moral and social effect. But sensationalism is another thing.

THE DAILY DOZEN

WHEN father, in the morning, says: goodbye and leaves for work, the missus also turns to daily toil. She always has a lot to do and can't afford to shirk, so the kettle of her labor starts to boil.

She washes up the dishes and the broom is put to play and she goes about her duty, often singing. She keeps at household drudgery till the middle of the day. Then she's halted by the doorbell's constant ringing.

First the newswoman comes for money; then the mailman leaves a bill. Then a gent who's selling lace stops to call. Next a fellow with the notion that will clean the window sill, or the stairway or the wood-work in the hall.

Even youngsters of a neighbor who can barely reach the bell push the button till they nearly push it out. There's relief that it is no one who has hit the theme to sell "Gee, I'd thank ya for a cookie," they will shout.

All day long the bell is ringin' till it runs poor mother lean, and she never wants to hear it any more. When you mention daily dozen she will like to thank you mean just the dozen trips she makes up to the door.

HIGH PRESSURE FAMILIES

Whenever we doctors come across any striking series of cases in a family, cases of anything abnormal enough to be interesting, we halt the discovery with great delight and report the matter to the medical journals. There are now on record all kinds of family pedigrees of that kind, from the Jukes and Kallikaks to families with hereditary hypersusceptibility to such foods as strawberries, shellfish, tomatoes or eggs.

Drs. O'Hare and Walker and Miss Vickers of Boston have found several families with more than an ordinary number of the members subject to cardiovascular disease, and they believe that heredity is a factor of hypertension, a disease of blood vessel disease in which high blood pressure is an early feature. They analyzed the family histories of 300 unselected cases of permanent hypertension (high blood pressure) taken from hospital records and private practice, and the in over two-thirds of these cases they found in the family history apoplexy, heart disease, nephritis, arteriosclerosis or diabetes. In the private cases the incidence of vascular disease reached the high level of 75 per cent. In the entire series the number of relatives with some form of cardiovascular disease averaged 2.5 per patient. Then they wondered whether hypertensive disease is really a family predisposition, and to settle that question they analyzed the family histories in 435 consecutive cases of non-vascular disease, and found a recorded incidence of vascular disease in 37.6 per cent.

That would tend to sustain the hypothesis that hypertension or high blood pressure and associated conditions runs in families, but it happened that the average age of the patients in the control series was only 38 years, whereas the average age of the patients in the series with vascular disease was 52 years—an age more likely to bring out evidence of cardiovascular disease. So it would seem to me that there is little ground for the opinion of Drs. O'Hare and Walker that hypertension is an inherited condition or that a tendency to such disease is inherited. The statistics they bring to support the hypothesis are far from convincing. Cardiovascular disease ranks second to tuberculosis in frequency in the United States mortality tables. We know now that tuberculosis does not run in families, although it is more than likely that analysis of family histories, after the fashion here referred to, would give some striking figures, for tuberculosis is so very common that nearly every family must be stricken now and then. The same thing applies to the question of cancer, which we know is not inherited but which is common enough to number victims in every family if not in every generation.

But whether Drs. O'Hare and Walker are right or wrong in ascribing hypertension disease to heredity, they draw some conclusions which seem sound and practical enough to pass on to the lay reader. "Nature frequently sounds a warning as early as the second decade in life of the possible development of hypertensive disease in the fourth or fifth decade, and physicians should watch over the young members of hypertensive families carefully. Among the warning signals mentioned by the authors are cold sweat bluish hands, flushing, blushing, nervous temperament, nosebleed, migraine and in the case of young women abnormal bleeding."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Witch Hazel

Is witch hazel good for the face? Is twice a day too often to use it? (Miss B.)

Answer.—Ordinarily it is not advisable. But so called extraction of witch hazel is a mild astringent lotion of some value when the skin is excessively oily or red. Two or three applications a day would be all right in such circumstances. For excessive oiliness the lotion is improved by adding to it a little roseolin, about five grains to the ounce.

Mutilation

I am a young expectant mother and wish to have my hair bobbed, but have been told if I do my baby will be marked. Please advise me (Mrs. H. W. C.)

Answer.—I advise you to keep your hair on, but you need not worry about "marking" the baby, for that is 100 per cent superstition.

Young Americans seeking a career should take an example from the self-confidence with which our politicians are endowed.

A prohibition officer said that the old classification of the upper class, middle classes and lower classes no longer holds. There now are only two classes, the people that have a little still and the people that still have a little.

Blooded Dogs Usually Make Poor Sailors

(From St. Nicholas.)

Did you know that virtually every ship you have ever seen harbored at least one pet and that every battleship carried on board the beginning of a very respectable zoo? Sailors are of all nations and you will find every type of man living in some ship or other. Still, there is one thing all sailors have in common—they all want something alive to play with. If the captain does not care much for animals, there will be no more than a cat or two, perhaps a dog and probably one goat. If the captain approves of pets, there will be almost as many pets as there are men.

Dogs, as a rule, are found only on the largest ships, for sea-going is a hard life for a good dog. A yellow mongrel stands it fairly well but a blooded dog, particularly an ambitious one like a bulldog or an airbule, fairly wears himself out trying to be a "one-man dog" to every member of the ship's company. When the ship rolls and pitches, only a lazy dog, content to sleep all day, avoids stiff and lame muscles from trying to keep his balance. It requires the digestion of an ostrich to avoid disaster from all-day-long stuffing of tidbits offered by scores of human chums. Worst of all, every sea-going dog soon learns to pull on a rope and likes the game. If times grow dull, you are sure to see him running a length of rope and during someone to play with him. Sooner or later, if he plays that game, the dog's teeth will break and decay and a dog with the toothache is a miserable dog indeed.

Of all sea-going pets, however, dogs seem to be the most feverishly happy. They soon learn the different boat-calls and run to the gangway to be the first passenger in every boat leaving the ship. Swimming-call is irresistible. On one ship there was a white bulldog that could not swim a stroke, yet as the first man dived off the gangway, "Bill" was right behind him. The first two times he was rescued with difficulty very sick and full of salt water. But he was not at all discouraged. The sailmaker took some old pieces of cork and make Bill a life preserver. Thereafter, when swimming-call was sounded, Bill would run for his life-belt, barking madly, and shake it in everybody's face until it was around him. Then, with a splash of glee, he would dive over the side and frolic in the water to his heart's content.

Ants In Burma Good Lumbermen

(From Answers, London.)

Most people regard ants as a nuisance, especially in a garden or at a picnic, but the natives of Burma have found a use for them.

This country grows and exports sandalwood, one of the most valuable and beautiful timbers in the world. The greater part of every tree felled is useless, however, for only the fragrant scented heart has any commercial value, and to transport the whole log would make even that not worth the cost of removal.

So the trees, after being stripped of their branches, are allowed to lie where they have fallen. The soft, sap-wood, which is useless in commerce, attracts the billions of ants who infect the forest, and to whom it is a bit of help. In helping themselves the ants help the sandalwood merchant for they leave the hard heart of the trunk stripped of all its worth-

French Movie Actors Fight Savage Wolves

(From Le Monde Illustré, Paris.)

If you but knew: You take your comfortable seat in a movie palace; you look at the many scenes of a super-production, but you have no idea of the great efforts which film managers, actors, operators and assistants made to produce the film.

You ought to see, for instance, "The Miracle of the Wolves" which a new French film company is now producing at Carcassonne as the first of a series of films on the history of France, made for popular educational purposes and as a national propaganda.

The part of the film which was most difficult to produce was a fight between men and wolves in the snow and the miraculous escape of the heroine from the animals whom she defeated by her courage and cold bloodedness. The directors of this film bought 20 wolves which they imported with great difficulty from Poland, Norway, and England. These wolves were taken to Joinville where a big cage was set up for them in one of the film studios. The savage animals began to fight among themselves and it was hard to separate them.

M. Anar, animal tamer, began to train the wolves with Mme Yvonne Sergyl, a young and charming actress who was to be the heroine of the film, went courageously into the cage and kept the wolves away from her by means of a trident. For several weeks she repeated daily this dangerous visit until she was able to enter the cage without her weapon and until the wolves became used to her presence.

This was the moment for producing the desired scene. The wolves were transported to the Col de Portes, not less intendment, and thus do for nothing the work of many human laborers.

Unusual People

OLDEST MAILMAN RETIRES

William S. Lowry, 73, the oldest letter carrier in the United States, recently retired from the Pittsburg postoffice staff. He has been on the job for 52 years and estimated his route carried him 20 miles a day, or approximately 3,500 miles. He attributes his good health to constant walking.

far from Grenoble, to a mountain top 1,400 meters high. A territory of about 2,000 meters, including a frozen river and wood, was surrounded by a high fence. The wolves were put in this vast inclosure. But as soon as they were let loose, they forgot the bit of ravens they and received. The wolves changed so completely that it was necessary to spend another month training them.

Even then the production did not go without incident. M. Moriot, whose part it was to battle with a wolf, was bitten a couple of times. So was H. Prejean who rolled about in the snow fighting a wolf. Finally falling through the ice in the river. One of the actors had a strange wolf in order to keep it from biting his throat. Mme. Sergyl, who had to kneel in the snow while the wolves circled about her, had her clothes torn a number of times.

Q. How long do distributing companies have the rights to motion pictures and what becomes of the films afterwards? E. S.

A. A distributing company for motion pictures usually has a lease ranging from three to five years. After a picture has been shown all over the United States the distributor keeps it in his office until his lease expires. After that time it is returned to the producer. However, the film deteriorates and is usually torn or in some way unfit for future use.

Q. Do adult Indians ever attend night school? M. F. T.

A. The Bureau of Indian Affairs is now experimenting with such schools. Two have been opened, one near Tucson, Arizona, and one at the Turle Mountain Reservation in North Dakota. Both schools seem popular and successful.

A. It is the zloty and its par value is 193 cents. It is almost at par.

Q. Are there any countries where there is no divorce law? D. L. T.

Watch Out for Bedbugs and Other Household Pests

Even the most careful housekeeper is likely at times to have trouble with some of the numerous household pests such as ants, bedbugs, cockroaches, fleas, flies, moths, rats and mice.

In spite of all precautions these unwelcome visitors frequently get into a house and immediate action must be taken toward their extermination.

Poisoning, trapping, fumigating, and the use of repellents are some of the methods employed. But great care must be taken because some of the most effective ways of destroying these troublesome creatures are dangerous to human beings.

The popular Government booklet "Housecleaning Made Easier," in addition to telling the housewife how to keep her premises clean and orderly all the year round, contains full instructions for eliminating all household pests.

This is a free Government publication and our Washington Information Bureau will secure a copy for any reader who fills out and mails the coupon below, enclosing two cents in stamps for return postage. Be sure your name and address are written plainly.

KROMERS PREPARE FOR TUSSLE WITH MAYVILLE SQUAD

Stormy Hopes to Get His Team Back in State League Next Year

Kaukauna—Stormy Kromer will take his former state league team to Mayville Sunday for a game with Mike Kavanagh's crack aggregation. The Mayville diamond warriors have lost but one game in two seasons. The Kaukauna youngsters have been improving steadily and have played a number of games since their withdrawal from the state circuit. Stormy hopes to be able to get his kids back into the state loop next spring.

Lefty Collins has been coaching the boys in fielding, new players have been added to the force and some changes have been made in the lineup.

Jack Zink, one of Kromer's heavy hitters, has replaced Macorle at first, and Eddie Johnson, who has been bothered with a lame back, is expected to rejoin the club soon.

Since adding the Y. M. C. A. Badgers to the homeplayers wheel, Stormy has had plenty of candidates and the new arrivals are doing good work in spite of the fact they lost their first two starts. Mereness, who pitches for the Cubs, is promising material. In Stormy's estimation, although only a youngster, he has allowed only six hits in each of the two games played.

The New London American legion team is scheduled to come here Saturday for a bout with Kromer's best lineup.

SIMPLICITY AND SUBTLETY COMBINED IN AZORIN STORY

Picture of Castilian Life Is Presented in "Don Juan"

BY ELEANOR WING

The simplicity of a first primer lesson, and the quiet sublimity of the passionate thoughts of race that can be little understood by Germanic people are combined in "Don Juan," by Azorin, translated by Catherine Allison Phillips and published by Knopf.

It is a masterpiece, simple, moving and graceful, poised to infinite and pathetic beauty.

One can imagine himself in an armchair pulled up rather close to a bare wall, across which the characters of a little Spanish town, move, unconscious of any one's presence, and quaintly natural in their reserved way. One may watch Don Juan walk slowly through the streets of the little city where "Rome, the Middle Ages, the Renaissance have left a spiritual sediment." He is the hero of his people, although in a less active sense than Siegfried of the Danes. The hero worship is silently bestowed, punctiliously accepted by Don Juan as his birthright. Azorin says that "as other eyes gazed at this spectacle two thousand years ago, so we gaze at it now. We cannot weary of gazing at the wall, the hill and the sky." Unchanged and forever unchanging, life goes on in the little town. Its hero can do no wrong; the world as it passes through and out into a larger life can cause no change in the ways of the people it has met in passing; and always there is the wall, the hill and the sky; and "the art, which has made the city splendid, and which was achieved as the centuries went by, by the supreme miracle of suppressing itself and leaving the marvelous surroundings it has formed."

And then, there are the monasteries and the convents. Without any statement of the fact, Azorin makes one know that the religious life exerts the strength and fineness of the little Spanish city; that the deep wells of passion in the hearts of the people are filled with the almost fanatic religion that has been crushed by the Inquisition and inspired by the devotion and martyrdom of its monks and nuns and Christians. The author describes one nun—"Sor Natividad" preserves an attitude of profound repose; her movements are deliberate and slow. Her green eyes and her expression about her mouth are not known whether there is a melancholy or gaiety in her face. Could a simple picture be more vivid? The monks and nuns move in a world that is unbelievably beautiful to the eyes of the simple folk in the city. "The red roses on a rosebush—in the inner courtyard with bare walls—stands out, under the blue sky, against the walls of unvarying white."

Only a phrase suffices to tell us the whole soul of the Castilians of the city. "The schoolmaster is described as briefly in a short chapter. But all we need to know of him is this: 'I should like these children,' says the master, 'to have the memory of happiness in their lives.' Don Leonardo, the ancient days, 'has eight sons, thirty grandchildren, fifteen great grandchildren. He is a venerable oak, a century old, with branches full of birds.' Jeanette has now seen eighteen summers. She has seen them with her black eyes wide open. And so the monastic passes. And it will be hard to forget anyone of the persons who walk silently, laughing seldom and gravely, across the wall.

In form the book is a combination of story and essay; a style that is not often successful and only is so when the life it portrays is extremely vivid, as in Castilian Spain, where the picture or portrait may be shown without comment or criticism. Azorin paints his colorful procession; explains the workings of his people's minds simply; puts his countrymen in a setting that does not need patriotic eyes to see its beauty; faintly surrounds the whole parade with the indescribable fragrance of history, and leaves his picture for us to comment upon, praise or censure. And he is unmoved by our judgment.

Two employees of the Fox River Paper company were injured this week. Mrs. W. M. Vogel, 1064 Richmond-st., suffered injuries to her back and arm when an elevator in which she was a passenger dropped from the main floor to the basement. As the elevator struck the basement, Mrs. Vogel fell out of it on the basement floor. A bone in her arm was broken. Mrs. Vogel was conveyed by the city ambulance to St. Elizabeth hospital.

Carl Hern, 457 Leest, suffered injuries to his right forearm when he was caught in a paper machine. Two fingers of his hand had been lost in a previous accident and a third finger was crushed Tuesday.

TILLMAN'S NEWEST SONG WILL BE PUBLISHED SOON

Edwin Tillman, song writer and composer, who is attending to the publicity for his new songs, "Caroline, Fair O'Mine," issued in Appleton and surrounding cities last week. Mr. Tillman is the Appleton boy who wrote "Tears of Happiness" and "Lonesome and Blue," two songs that were "best sellers." He has another song entitled "I'm Someone, Who's No One To You," which will be placed on the market soon.

Edna Ferber, the author of the season's best present seller, "So Big," thought it was a failure when she had finished it, according to an interview Latrobe Carroll reports in the August International Book Review.

"I'll have to confess that after I'd done the book, I was afraid it was a mess," Miss Ferber is recorded as saying. "I'd lived so close to it, I'd gone stale. I still think 'The Girls' my best novel. I suppose nobody would be interested in a calico dress woman with bad teeth. It's the truth that no one is more surprised than I that people are buying it. Do you think I'm as alive as Selma? I don't. I'd like to go back and do him over again. What a pity a writer can't."

"I wrote that novel selfishly, not for an audience, just for myself—because I wanted to, thinking all the time it was a spendthrift thing to do. 'Here's something,' I thought, 'that will have a delightful audience of one.' I had an impulse to blab, even if no one listened. I was just the village gossip, bursting: 'Do you know that Selma Peake married that terrible Pervus, and she's had a son and he's a failure!'"

"I'd always had the feeling that you didn't talk about beauty or write about it—that it was something to hug to yourself. I'd always seen it, but I hadn't let it into what I wrote. Lately I've found out you don't have to be ashamed because you find beauty in cabbage. That explains a richness in 'So Big' that isn't in the other books. Something in me that was locked burst open. I hope it stays open."

"And I die when I write," she confesses. "It hurts and it's so hard and it goes slowly. But I'm miserable when I'm not writing. If you don't get beauty out of you, how do you stand it? I'll be walking, and see the swoop of a building, or a boy and girl together, or a branch against the sky, and I get so exhilarated about it, I don't see how people can get along without expressing such feelings in some way—talking, perhaps. I should think they'd burst."

"When I work it's part pain—exquisite agony; like pressing a tooth when you've the toothache. You know the pleasure that gives. After the work is done there's a satisfaction, a lovely feeling that comes with completion. That feeling's my real recompense."

'THREE HOSTAGES' IN SELECT CLASS AT CITY LIBRARY

John Buchan's Story Among the Books in Greatest Demand Here

"A Gentleman of Courage" by James Oliver Curwood, "The Three Hostages" by John Buchan, and "The Home Makers" by Dorothy Canfield, were the books in greatest demand at Appleton Public Library last week. Dorothy Canfield's "The Home Makers" has been among the most popular books for some time and indications are that it will continue to be.

Curwood's story, "The Gentleman of Courage" like his other books which are popular on screen and in print, is the sort of story one person enjoys telling to another, directly, with no anxiety to create new imagery or literary flavor. A review of the story said that the person who refuses to view literature too gravely, "A Gentleman of Courage" is a rollicking good yarn.

"The Three Hostages," John Buchan's new story appeals to the lover of stories of mystery and adventure who at the same time are not content without good writing, human characters, and the solid feel of reality. Predecessors of the "Three Hostages" are "The Thirty-Nine Steps," "Greenmantle," and "Mr. Standfast."

Non-fiction books which were popular during the past week were "Birds, Their Photographs and Home Life," by A. H. Cordier, and "In the Footsteps of the Lincoln" by Ida Tarbell, both of which have been favored by patrons of the library to a degree for some time.

The books that were most popular in the children's department were animals stories such as Dyer's "Pierrot, Dog of Beglum," Mukorji's "Kari, the Elephant," and Terhune's "Lad," a dog story, which has been popular for quite some time. Perkins twin books, "The Dutch Twins," and the Eskimos Twins," that are popular at all times have been exceptionally so throughout the summer.

"The Story of Mankind," by Hendrik Van Loon, has had such a record sale that Boni and Liveright are now offering it in a popular priced edition that can be purchased by the slimmest purse. The Newbery Medal edition, at $2.50, is very beautifully put up, and is given its name because it won the Newbery Medal for the best children's book in 1921.

Redemption, novel by Beckles Willson, published August 15 by Putnam, marks the entry of a new and important writer into a field hitherto dominated by Sir Gilbert Parker and Ralph Connor. The novel is drawn largely from a background of Canadian life, although a portion of the tale is taken to England and Oxford. Willson is well known in Canada and Great Britain as a journalist. In "Redemption" he has chosen a small Canadian town set among farms and forest as the jumping off place for a young Canadian who sets out to see the world.

A little of the old excitement of pre-Revolution days hangs about "Gordon of the Lost Lagoon," for the reason that Robert Watson, the author has been connected with the Hudson Bay company for many years, and the old record of that historical company has of course influenced him to a large extent. The book is published by Minton, Balch and Company, and is the first Mr. Watson has written in three years, since "The Spoilers of the Valley" was published. Vancouver is the setting for this novel.

Strange journeyings give material to Rockwell Kent with which to write his travel books a new one of which is soon to be published by Putnam. "Wilderness" and "Voyaging: Southward from the Straits of Magellan" which is a tale of a strange trip in a fragile boat to this country, via Greenland, Iceland and the Frozen north, are two of Mr. Kent's books that probably will be published simultaneously.

Stunt Night Program Stunt night at the Y. M. C. A. Monday evening was attended by a fairly large number of boys. It was conducted by A. P. Jensen, physical director. The horse and rider fight was the most exciting and the horse was won by Harold Farrar and Fred Marshall. The program included races and games.

THE Oil and Gas Journal, of July 24, 1924, says: "Measured in terms of what is saved car and truck owners in the prices they must have paid for gasoline, if no cracking process had been in use, cracking saved the motorist last year probably $500,000,000."

"And this is the significance of cracking," continues this journal—"a significance that can be measured in dollars saved to the millions who call at the filling station for gasoline."

The entire business of cracking gasoline has been developed since January 7, 1913, when the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) was granted its first patent for what is known as the Burton Cracking Process.

In 1923 there were some 2000 cracking "units" in operation, of which about 1600 were Burton Process, and the remaining 400 scattered among other cracking processes of more recent origin.

During 1923 the 14 million cars and trucks used about 6,800,000,000 gallons of gasoline.

Despite the flood of crude oil, during 1923, there were but 4,950,000,000 gallons of straight run gasoline available for these 14 million cars and trucks.

Hence it is obvious that without the cracking process now so generally in use, gasoline prices would have been substantially higher than they were and one-fourth of these vehicles could not have been operated.

This clear, simple statement of facts, verified and set forth in a non-partisan manner in a keen review of the situation by Charles E. Bowles in the Oil and Gas Journal, is more convincing than a dozen arguments in proving the immense service which the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has rendered the automobilist, by developing the Burton Cracking Process, and by inventing stills and other refining machinery to a point where there is practically no crude which cannot be treated and made to yield substantial quantities of good gasoline.

If the Oil and Gas Journal is correct in its figures, and we believe that they are conservative, the average saving per car was $35.72 for 1923—a saving essentially due to the progressive policy of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

LETTER FROM ANNETTE ANDERSON TO MRS. LESLIE PRESCOTT

Mrs. Prescott is quite anxious to see your baby again. She is getting restless, and she wishes me to write you and ask you if you would come down here and bring him.

It's astonishing, my dear Mrs. Prescott, to realize what that baby has done to your husband's mother. She is quite mad about him. I've been wondering if it would not be a good thing to invite her up to see you. We could go to a nearby apartment house or hotel for a few days and then I think she would be much more content to come back to the quiet and peace of her old home than she is now.

I'm growing very fond of your husband's mother, Mrs. Prescott. Of course she is self-centered, as old people always are, and narrow, as becomes her Puritan ancestry, but for all that there is something worth within her aged frame.

And now that she has a definite object in life, and that definite object is your baby, it seems to me that it might be feasible to bring the oldest and the youngest members of your family together again for a short time.

Of course, if anything makes it impossible for you or Mr. Prescott to do this you can write to me, and you may be sure that your confidence will be inviolate. I will make some excuse to keep Mrs. Prescott, Sr. here.

I want to tell you, however, how much she thinks of you. All the love that she formerly bestowed upon that old maid called Priscilla Bradford, she has evidently transferred to you.

Of course I know it is absolutely impossible for you to make a visit upon your husband's mother so soon again, and that is the reason I am asking you if it would be convenient for her to visit you. It would give her something to think about on her return.

She would see you and the baby in your own home, she would place you in her accustomed surroundings, and this means a great deal to old people.

Anything you may write me about this will be kept in strictest confidence, as I said before.

Hoping to hear from you soon, I remain

Yours respectfully,

ANNETTE ANDERSON

Night Letter From Leslie Prescott to Mrs. Mary Alden Prescott

Jack will be home day after tomorrow, dear mother, and we would like it very much if you would come and see us for a few weeks. There isn't room for you and your nurse in our little apartment, but if you will say that you will come, will arrange for you in the one next door. Think, perhaps, this will be better, for then when you want to be quiet and alone, you can get away from us all. I'd like to have you come as soon as possible. I'm not telling Jack about it, because I want to give him the news, surprise possible. Your loving daughter

Senators Advance On Yanks By Taking Twin Bill From Ty's Club

Giants Continue to Set Pace in National and Advance to Four-game Lead by Defeating Cincinnati.

As they entered the last quarter of race for the American league pennant, the Washington Senators advanced within two games of the league leading Yankees who remained idle. Washington took both ends of the double header from Ty's Tigers and went into second place, while Detroit slipped back into the third notch. Washington won the first game, 4 to 2 and took the nightcap, 5 to 3, winning four out of five games of the Detroit series. The Tigers now are a game and a half behind Washington, but lead the Browns, who are in fourth place, by two and one half games. The St. Louis club went down to defeat in a free-hitting game with Boston, 11 to 5, in the final game of the series.

Connie Mack's Athletics made it three out of four in the series with the Cleveland Indians, taking the final game Tuesday, 5 to 3.

The Giants continued to set pace in the National league race, increasing their lead to four games by defeating Cincinnati, 6 to 2, while Uncle Robbie's Brooklyn club was taking a hard fought game from Pittsburgh 4 to 3. Pittsburgh held to second position, two and one half games in front of the Cubs who remained inactive in third place.

Philadelphia and St. Louis were forced to postpone their game because of rain. The Boston club also took the day off in Chicago when rain interfered.

Detroit Find

EDWIN WELLS
From Little Bethany College came young Edwin Wells to left hand his way to fame as one of Detroit's most successful pitchers this season. Wells is rated as a find and his pitching has done much to keep the Tigers in the thick of the American League race.

33 CLASS C BOATS READY TO RACE AT MINNETONKA

By Associated Press
Minneapolis, Minn. — Thirty-three Class C ships were ready Wednesday to sail in the third day's events in the Inland Lakes Yachting association regatta at Lake Minnetonka. The Warren Carpenter cup and the Commodore C. L. Schmidt trophy were the prizes at stake.

A dozen yachts were to compete in the Class A events, wind permitting. Tuesday's races in both classes were called off because of lack of sufficient wind for crafts to finish within the stipulated time limits.

BALTIMORE ON WAY TO TAKING SIXTH PENNANT

Retail Foot Fitters Tuesday evening recovered from their defeat at the hands of the Printers the night before and knocked down the Knights of Pythias, 5 to 1, on the rebound. Both teams put up an excellent game but the Jones park diamond was slippery with mud and handicapped the players badly. It was almost impossible to run bases despite the liberal use of sand on low spots.

The Shoemans copped a run in the opening stanza and added two more in the second, while the Pythians were held scoreless up to the fifth, when they gathered one tally. Meanwhile they held the Shoemans without another run up to the seventh and final inning, tightening up and playing faultless ball. The seventh gave the Foot Fitters 2 extra runs and the game.

The batteries: Foot Fitters—Lacke and Beyer; Knights of Pythias—Wall, Gmelner and Nelson.

Score by innings:

BAKERS CONQUER BARBERS, 14 TO 9

Everybody picks on the Barbers of the City Twilight Baseball league. The Bakers Monday afternoon trimmed them, 14 to 9, but found the going much harder than they had expected. It looks as though the Razor-men will be able to hold their own with the best after a few more tilts.

The Bakers scored most of their runs in the first inning and when the game was called in the fifth because of darkness the Barbers had just taken a good start.

The batteries: Bakers—Bachall and Christman; Barbers—Fredericks and Hofkins.

The Bakers are looking for games with other twilight clubs of the city and have sent a challenge to the Post-Crescent Printers.

DOG-DAY STUFF

If you feel that you just must go to the bow-wow, now is the fashionable time to do it.

No nervous wreck can get any consolation out of the knowledge that a soprano-singing hound never plants his teeth in your tibia bone.

If she says: "Love me, love my dog," don't start to flee. The dog may misinterpret your intention.

A dog has a lot of fine traits that a man might well adopt. But growl!

ing isn't one of them.

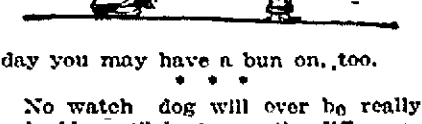

Don't come home after a long day at the office and blurt out, "I'm living a dog's life." Even the little woman must get tired of hearing you brag.

Turn about is noble sport. Take the screws riding in your limousine and tie cans to the tails of the aristocratic chows.

Mr. O'Goofy understands that the canine family is very fond of bones. "Well, I've got a new pair and I'll fade the lads for any amount."

Quit complaining about your puppies. If they hurt, get a larger size.

Be charitable in your remarks to hot dogs. Who knows but some day you may have a bun on, too.

No watch dog will ever be really valuable until he learns the difference between your bootlegger and the guy that reads the gas meter.

Fashion, note: For dog days, stump-speaking politicians will wear non-removable steel muzzles and oblige the country at large.

Crawl Is Popular

KATHLEEN NORGATE

Yale Starts Drive To Corral Public's Cash

Old Eli Expects to Collect Nearly Million from Gate Receipts of Football Games This Year.

New Haven, Conn.—Tex Rickard, promoter of pugilistic extravaganzas, has nothing on Old Eli, promoter of football contests de luxe and remunerative.

The Yale eleven will play to approximately a $750,000 "gate" this autumn, quite enough to make Mr. Rickard casually turn his promotional beam.

Since Yale made a practice of playing the Army, the bowl has been filled to capacity twice during the season. Now Yale, with Dartmouth back on the schedule, plans to fill it three times. Prices for the Harvard and Army games will be $3, and for Dartmouth $2. This will realize about $624,000 alone.

Yale this year is selling blanket tickets with a premium offer that acts in two ways. The offer insures acts served seat privileges. This means Yale is after public patronage that may break all gridiron "gate" records.

Yale doesn't need general patronage at her big classics, the Princeton or Harvard football games, but it is different with the preliminary contests which do not attract the old grads from near and far.

In going after Mr. General Public's business the Yale Athletic Association has appealed to his greatest weakness. Something for nothing.

The plan is not wholly unlike the strategy of the patent medicine seller who offers a package of needles, a bar of soap and three balls of pink yarn with each bottle of corn cure.

"If you buy a season ticket for the four preliminary games, then you may have the privilege of applying for tickets to the big games," purr the Yale magnates.

Thus the outside gridiron fadoman need no longer feel the depressing realization of an inferiority complex.

The grumble here has been long and thunderous. When the "big" games rolled around Mr. General Public the same old bird who supported the minor contests—was left outside in the cold, blustering winds.

On the occasion of the Harvard and Princeton games this city is invaded by thousands of graduates and undergraduates of the "Big Three" universities and Mr. General Public is always asked to step aside. So he has finally become indignant and decided to stay away from the preliminary games. Last year a boycott was virtually in force.

This probably explains Yale's present campaign to get his business back. Incidentally, Yale has raised prices repeatedly during recent years. With the backing of the Army, a 75-center with a small college became a $3 affair.

And now another 75-center—the Dartmouth game—has become a $2 affair.

Don't let anybody tell you the colleges aren't interested in the turnstiles!

Sunday afternoon the Wiremen will invade New London where they are scheduled to meet the Boosters.

San Francisco—Pat McGill of Omaha took two falls from Mike Romano of Italy in a two hour wrestling match.

LARGE TURNOUT IS PROSPECT AT SUNDAY CONTEST

Chairmakers Seek Revenge for Two Previous Defeats by Appleton Club

Unless rain again interferes with the State league schedule Sunday afternoon one of the largest crowds of the season is expected to turn out for the Papermakers' contest with the Sheboygan Chairmakers here.

The Appleton club has chalked up two victories against the Liebmans this season, and the Chairmakers are out for blood. The two rivals have played excellently; ball everytime they met so far, and fans are assured of seeing their money's worth whenever they clash.

Buster Braun, veteran pitcher of Sheboygan, will oppose Eddie Stack on the mound, which probably will develop a duel of pitmen. Both teams are heavy hitters however and the Chairmakers' offerings more frequently than almost any other aggregation in the league. The Sheboyganites have nothing on the Papermakers in that respect, for in each game played thus far between the two clubs, at least one homer has fallen to the lot of an Appleton man, and the Papermakers get to Braun hard and often.

EXPECT 5,000 FANS AT BOOSTER GAME

Neenah-Menasha Club of State Loop Meets Nash Motors, Leading Midwest Club

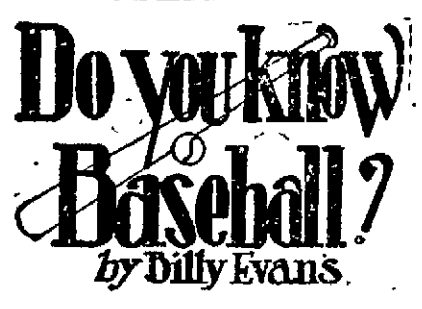

Neenah—One of the best baseball exhibitions Fox River Valley fans have ever seen is expected Tuesday afternoon, Sept. 16, when the crack Nash Motors aggregation of Kenosha crosses bats at Menasha Recreational park with the Menasha-Neenah team of the Wisconsin State League.

Negotiations for the game were completed this week and preparations are now in full swing to make it a booster event. The Twin Cities will declare a half-holiday and hundreds of fans from the surrounding territory are expected to attend.

The entire grandstand will be thrown open. No seats will be reserved but those holding tickets will be given chances for seats in the order of their arrival at the grounds.

With the Nash team, including such stars as King Lear, Jim Vaughn, and Hackman, leading the Mid-West Industrial league, and the Menasha-Neenah club at the top of McGuffan's State wheel, the forthcoming contest will go a long way in establishing the semi-pro championship of Wisconsin.

Five thousand fans are expected to assemble for the contest and arrangements are being made to accommodate an overflow crowd in the Falls City's spacious park.

  2. The runner is entitled to score. When a fielder blocks a base runner without the ball in his possession, the runner is entitled to that base which he was prevented from reaching by the obstruction of the fielder.
  3. It is a fair ball, if it finally settles on fair territory between home and third, despite the fact that it first struck foul.

Appleton Industrial Club Defeats Woodenwares, 3 to 1, in Hard Battle

Coated Paper Co. team of Appleton Saturday will invade Waupun for a baseball contest with the State Prisoners there, and expect to add a fresh scalp to their belt.

Last week they defeated the strong Menasha Woodenware club, 3 to 1, in one of the hardest contests played by either team this season. This was the first defeat of the Woodenwares in nine starts.

RIVERVIEW GOLFERS PLAY AT GREEN BAY

Cards have been sent out to all members of the Riverview Country club to ascertain the number of players who plan to invade Green Bay Saturday afternoon for the interclub golf match scheduled for that day.

Dr. L. H. Moore will captain the team of the Riverview club, and it is expected more than a score of players will accompany him. The Riverview golfers were defeated badly in a previous contest this season and plan to even the score.

Mayefski was hit seven times and also struck out eleven men. Two of the hits collected off Mayefski were two-baggers by Schultz, third-sacker on the Coated Paper team.

TAKE TESTIMONY IN EIGHT CLAIMS FOR COMPENSATION

Industrial Commission Con- ducts Hearing Under Lia- bility Law

Eight workmen's compensations were heard Tuesday and Wednesday by the Industrial Commission of the state Industrial Commission who arrived here Tuesday with P. C. Bode, reporter, for a three day session in the courthouse.

An unusual case was that of George Bowers of Waupaca who asks compensation for an undescribed injury which he said he suffered in a scuffle with fellow workmen employed with him at Kimberly-Clark company plant last February.

Additional compensation was asked by Al Zerkel of Appleton for hernia which resulted from an injury four years ago while employed by the Hayton Pump and Blower company.

Further disability is claimed by Walter Warner of Appleton whose leg was broken while he was working for the R. J. Wilson company here last year. A hearing had been held previously on adjustment of compensation.

ONE CASE CONTINUED

The case of Edwin Blank vs. Blake Pavine & Construction company was continued owing to inability of one of the attorneys to be present. Blank fell into the water while his employers were building Mud Creek bridge a few years ago. Typhoid fever and tuberculosis are said to have resulted from the exposure.

Melvin Westphal of Combined Locks had his first hearing on his claim for compensation for hernia which he suffered while employed as machine tender of the Combined Locks Paper company here. Testimony in the case of Adolph Rumyantsev of Kaukauna whose wrist was cut by a saw at the Chicago and Northwestern Railway shops two years ago, and testimony in the case of Richard Carvill of Kimberly vs. Frank Mach of Embarras based on an accident in Bismarck in which the claimant's index finger was broken, were taken. Further testimony was taken in the case of Edwin Miller of Neenah, who was injured severely when carried around a pulley and dropped 10 feet on the floor two years ago.

BRYAN SPEECH QUIETS FEARS OF DEMOCRATS

be examined carefully by Nebraskans to determine whether he has shaken off the radicalism of the Farmer-Labor party or whether he has kept the faith of Progressivism.

SPEECH IS TYPICAL

One thing can be counted upon—the Bryan speech represents a type of appeal the Democratic party will make to the Western voters. It is intended to be more progressive than the Republican platform and not as radical as the LaFollette pronouncements. It is designed to win the approval of those independent voters who do not wish to consider themselves as conservatives and yet who do not wish to follow the LaFollette bandwagon. Whether such a group is numerically large is difficult to conjecture but there is no such uncertainty as to the number of voters inside the Democratic party who have been looking with some favor on the LaFollette movement.

The Democratic strategy is to hold the normal Democratic vote everywhere and not to lose any groups no matter how small, especially in the west where the insurgent movement in the Republican party has been running strong for the last six years. The Democrats confidently believe that if they hold their own lines they will have a plurality as between the LaFollette and Coolidge vote.

The western managers here say that all the ultra-radicals left the Democratic party two or four years ago, were the Brookharts, Norrises, Shipsteads, Magnus Johnsons and the rest of the radical Republicans were running for office. Their large majorities were really assisted by Democrats voting both in Republican primaries and elections. An appeal will be made to get some of them back but basically the Democrats figure that the Republican party in the west is a lost cause. The Coolidge speeches make no effort to truckle to the western radicals. The Bryan speech makes a distinct gesture in the direction of the western radicals of both parties. The Bryan-Davis campaign, after all, will be fought; most vigorously in the west and that is why the Bryan speech of acceptance is a keynote of the national campaign itself as it will be waged by everyone of the Democratic candidates from John W. Davis down.

DAVIS DEVOTES TIME TO SEAGIRT ADDRESS

By Associated Press
Locust Valley, N. Y.—John W. The speech the Democratic presidential candidate is to deliver at Locust Valley, N. Y., is completed. It will be his first since President Coolidge delivered his acceptance address and for that reason is regarded by many as one of the most important Mr. Davis will deliver during the campaign.

HISTORIC CAR LAUGHS AT APPLETON'S HILLS

"Cannonball" Baker's historic automobile, an Oldsmobile, which traveled across the American continent in high gear, attracted considerable attention in Appleton Wednesday morning when it was brought here by Harry Griffith of Milwaukee, formerly of Appleton.

Although the car has but one speed, it was able to climb the steepest hills here, including the "Chap Factory" hill and rolled along at two miles an hour in traffic.

The car has no reverse, nor second and first speeds. When it is driven to a curb it must be pushed back by hand, but it handles well in traffic. The car speedometer registered 33,533 miles when it arrived in Appleton.

RAIL BROTHERHOOD WARNS AGAINST AD PURCHASES

Appleton Chamber of Commerce is warned in a letter received from Cleveland Chamber of Commerce to scrutinize closely any solicitation proposition here in which the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen is mentioned. This is done at the request of W. G. Lee, president of the brotherhood, in order to stop the fraudulent use of the organization's name. Solicitation is going on all over the country, the letter says, for advertisements in a seniority list and railway men's time book. There is an inference that local lodges of the brotherhood will receive benefit from publication of the book, although this is not implied directly.

Mr. Lee has requested that unless those soliciting for such purposes bear credentials from the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, no one is authorized to request advertisements and none of the lodges benefit. Some credentials bear the name "Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen" but this is not the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

REGIONAL SCOUT OFFICER ARRIVES FOR MEETING

C. M. Funnell, deputy executive of region No. 7, Boy Scouts of America, Chicago, arrived in the city Wednesday morning to attend the meeting of the valley scout council at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday evening at the headquarters in Insurance-bldg. He acts as full representative for Wisconsin, Illinois, Michigan and Indiana.

Mr. Funnell assisted in reorganizing the boy scout work of the Fox River valley earlier in the year and desired to attend this meeting because it is the first since the council was reestablished by P. O. Kelcher, valley executive. He will assist in formulating the fall plans for scout membership and activity.

Facts And Figures

Those are the first things that people call upon to prove their contentions.

And when we contend that opportunity is close at hand--waiting for you to close your empty fingers around it--it is natural for us to assemble an imposing array of facts and figures.

That's just what we have done! We've assembled columns of 'em--in the A-B-C Classified Section!

Facts--irrefutable facts relating to almost everything--which is remotely connected with opportunity--have been assembled and labeled with figures whose consecutive arrangement points out different classes of opportunities in the twinkling of an eye.

If all these facts and figures are not enough to prove that opportunity is close at hand--it may be taken for granted that black is white, that east is west and that failure is success.

MASONS BID GOODBY TO OLD HALL AND MOVE TO TEMPLE

Take Furniture With Them in Parade Following Talks of Reminiscence

Waverly lodge now is established in the new Masonic temple, the informal occupation taking place after a program of reminiscences in the old hall above Continental clothing store Tuesday evening and followed by a march to the new edifice where musical numbers and lunch were enjoyed.

Members of the Eastern Star attended the meeting at the new temple and served the lunch.

Removal of bag and baggage was accomplished when each member in the procession carried some article of furniture from the old building to the new. The new furnishings have not been received and the old ones will be placed in the auxiliary lodge room for use at meetings until the others arrive, after which formal dedication will take place.

LARGE CROWD PRESENT
The lodge convened in formal session in the old hall with an attendance so large that seating capacity was inadequate. G. E. Buchanan, worshipful master, presided. Most of the time before adjournment to the new temple was devoted to talks recalling associations since 1852, when the old hall first was occupied.

Minutes of the first meeting in the hall now vacated were read by C. D. Thompson, secretary, indicating that the late John P. Rose was worshipful master at that time. Dudley Rowell, the first man to be given the Masonic degree in the hall, was scheduled to speak but was unable to be present.

C. L. Marston, who was a member at that time, was present, however, and described the removal from early quarters over the present Rossmore shoe store to the larger hall. He named many of the men who were active in the lodge at that time.

Talks also were given by Frank Hammer, the last man to become a master mason in the old hall. B. G. Hatch, who recently was honored for 50 years, and Charles Sheldon, who has served as master of the blue lodge, high priest of the chapter and eminent commander of the commandery during his Masonic career.

PAST MASTERS SPEAK
Henry Tuttrup, past master, gave the reasons why the old lodge hall would remain a cherished memory. He was followed by Miss Irene Bidwell, past master and secretary, who read excerpts from the minutes at the time the lodge was organized 70 years ago and during its periods of removal and expansion. He gave figures to compare the early membership and extent of degree work with that of the present, when there are practically 600 Masons in Appleton.

A poem, "The Lodge Room Above Simpkins Store," was read by A. C. Ramsey, past master.

Lodge was adjourned and the members proceeded in a body to the new temple, each carrying an article of furniture. A roster was prepared forming a record of all who took part in the exercises. Lunch was served in the dining hall in the basement of the temple and the program which followed included solos by George Nixon, accompanied by Miss Irene Bidwell, and community singing. Mr. Nixon and Miss Bidwell also sang a duet. G. E. Buchanan, who is president of the Masonic Building association, made an address in which he told of the plans for furnishing the building.

The arrangements for the gathering were in charge of George H. Packard, A. C. Remley and Homer H. Denton.

CAR STICKERS SUPPLIED APPLETON PEOPLE AT FAIR

Local businessmen who attended the Seymour fair Wednesday, which is Appleton day, had large signs pasted on their windshields bearing the city's slogan, "You'll Like Appleton." They were printed in large red letters and had a line beneath entitled, "Seymour 45 minutes from Collegeville. These were distributed by the chamber of commerce.

Hand bands with the slogan in red letters also were given out to all who inquired at the chamber office. The purpose was to let Seymour know the extent of the support which Appleton is giving the fair this year as in the past.

DRUNK CHARGE AGAINST VICTIM OF AUTO CRASH

Fond du Lac—Service of a warrant charging him with driving an automobile while intoxicated awaits the outcome of injuries suffered by James Nowarke, Oshkosh, who is at a hospital with a probable fracture of the spine, suffered in an automobile collision on highway 15, near North Fond du Lac. ## FACE SENTENCE FOR ASSAULTING MOTORIST

Oshkosh—Steve Libosky and Joe Edshulak, Chicago, are facing prison terms of one to 30 years as a consequence of their pleas of guilty in municipal court to charges of assaulting Richard Beauvais, alias of Chicago, with intent to rob him of his automobile on the Butte Des Morts road, July 26.

Guards Will Take Part In Defense Day

National Defense day will be observed by Company D in Appleton on Sept. 12 in spite of Gov. Blaine's refusal to order out the national guard and in spite of the prohibitory statement issued by Ralph M. Immell, adjutant general of the Wisconsin National Guard.

Gen. Immell announced that no national guard captain has authority to call out the guard units for such occasions except on the direction of the governor or the state department, and no authority has been issued to any company commanders to participate in the demonstration, he said.

The demonstration to be staged by Company D will be in the nature of a special drill. Inasmuch as the captain of a national guard unit is not required to seek the authority of the governor to have a special drill, members of the local company will give a drill, with Capt. E. F. Grundeman in charge.
